The program is available to veterans

from any state, territory, protectorate or possession of the United States.

It offers a low-cost opportunity for honorably discharged veterans to retrain or gain new careers prior to entering the workforce and seeking success in the civilian environment.

The average savings for each non-resident military student is approximately $1,500 per semester for tuition. The program is open to both undergraduate and graduate students. Highland charges the same tuition rates for both programs.

For further information on eligibility, reciprocal status, advanced placement, work study and employment opportunities and VA benefits, contact the transition assistance management program at the Family Service Center at ext. 3060 or 3141 or the New Mexico Highlands University program at (505) 454-3182.
